

Georgia State Capitol Dome

ATLANTA, GA

The Georgia State Capitol building was built between 1880 and 1889 following the designation of Atlanta as the capitol of Georgia in 1877. The building is topped with a large gold dome, which acts as a visual landmark for the southern half of the city. Atop the dome's cupola is the statue of the Goddess of Liberty, colloquially known as "Miss Freedom." EverGreene has worked on the capitol building twice; once in 2000 as a part of the interior restoration, and again in 2024 regilding the exterior dome.

EverGreene was contracted by Allstate Construction Group, LLC to regild the large dome and cupola dome of the Georgia State Capitol building. Our restoration specialists removed the existing coating down to bare metal, taking care to prepare the surface for regilding. The surfaces were then gilded using 23.75 karat, 22 gram gold leaf using a lead-free gold size made for outdoor use.
