

Gracie Mansion - Stone Crack Repair

NEW YORK, NY

The Gracie Mansion, located in what is now Carl Schurz Park, is the former home of Archibald Gracie. Gracie was born in Scotland and emigrated to the United States in 1784, settling in Petersburg, Virginia and continuing the successful mercantile and shipping business he had developed abroad. He moved to New York in 1793 after purchasing a tract of land from the Walton Family with the intension of building a country house. The house itself is a simple, white clapboard structure, rectangular in shape, and two stories high, constructed in the Federalist style. It was first constructed in 1799, with a large expansion occurring in 1811....
